

George T. Melvin's Plat of West Annapolis 1890

For Sale to Benefit the West Annapolis Heritage Partnership

This carefully drawn plat of the subdivision of Luther Giddings' farm shows the plan for laying out the streets and lots for a new community. Not found on other plats are the indication of trees in the ravines cutting into the shore and other trees, possibly an orchard, in other areas. Note that street trees are also indicated – perhaps in anticipation of their planting.

The West Annapolis Heritage Partnership is a joint effort by the West Annapolis Civic Association (WACA), the Wardour Improvement Association (WIA), and the West Annapolis Business Affiliation (WABA) to utilize the community's natural and cultural heritage for the benefit of residents, West Annapolis Elementary School, and the businesses along Annapolis Street and Ridgely Avenue.

Our mission is:

- To gather and memorialize our community's history
- To engage and connect residents with their natural and cultural history
- To enhance West Annapolis's business area for heritage tourism.
